

Resource Analyst

Here is your opportunity with the Ministry of Natural Resources and Forestry to contribute to the sustainability of Northern Ontario's natural resources. Showcase your ability to manage and analyze information, use decision support models and work with diverse and dynamic teams across Ontario.

Located approximately 700 km North of Toronto, and surrounding the Mattagami River in Northeastern Ontario, South Porcupine (City of Timmins) offers a variety of natural, cultural and recreational diversions. Building on its solid industrial foundation, this growing community welcomes new business and offers ample opportunity. Fresh northern air, outdoor adventure and incredible hospitality await you in 'The City with a Heart of Gold'.

For more information on South Porcupine (City of Timmins) visit www.timmins.ca

What can I expect to do in this role?

Your work will include:

- providing professional advice and analytical support in the preparation of fisheries, wetlands, watersheds, resource management and regional strategic plans and natural heritage system design projects as well as in the resolution of resource management and allocation issues
- using quantitative resource analysis techniques for landscape and ecosystem planning assessments, resource supply assessments and socio-economic impact assessment
- assembling and synthesizing data, running models and analyzing and interpreting results
- managing information consistent with provincial standards in the development of strategic plans
- interacting with other resource professionals and members of the public engaged on resource planning teams

Location: South Porcupine

How do I qualify?

Technical knowledge:

- You are knowledgeable of and are proficient at using computer-based analytical, data-management, mapping and modelling techniques – including spatial analyses and data modelling.
- You possess experience and the ability to design, develop and test new analytical and planning tools and applications (e.g. habitat, landscape diversity protection, resource management).

Knowledge and experience:

- You possess demonstrated knowledge of resource management planning systems and the principles associated with ecosystem-based approaches to resource management.
- You possess relevant experience in the theory, methods and practices of geographic information systems, databases and analytical models, including job related experience in using resource management models.
- You are knowledgeable of and have the ability to apply and interpret relevant legislation, policies and procedures.

Communication and interpersonal skills:

- You possess proven oral communication skills to provide adequate information, advice and recommendations to staff, stakeholders and project teams.
- You possess good written communication skills to create reports, presentations, draft correspondence and review information.
- You have interpersonal skills to conduct presentations and convey technical information to non-technical staff in an organized manner.
- You are able to work with stakeholders and staff using good judgment, tact, diplomacy and in a professional manner.
- You can work cooperatively within a team environment and work effectively with minimal supervision.

Analytical and research skills:

- You have analytical and problem-solving skills to analyze and interpret results, prepare data summaries and provide clear descriptions of results for use in technical reports and presentations.
- You possess interpretive and effective research skills to perform and review statistical analyses information of varying complexity to support regional resource management and land use planning models.
- You have the ability to prioritize and organize your work in a fast pace and dynamic environment.

Salary Range: $1,288.86 - $1,654.80 per week

Additional information:

- 1 Permanent, 5520 Hwy 101 E, South Porcupine, North Region

Please apply online, only, at www.ontario.ca/careers, quoting Job ID 122114, by Thursday, April 26, 2018. Please follow the instructions to submit your application. Faxes are not being accepted at this time.

If you require accommodation in order to participate in the recruitment process, please contact us at www.gojobs.gov.on.ca/ContactUs.aspx to provide your contact information. Recruitment Services staff will contact you within 48 hours. Only those applicants selected for an interview will be contacted.

The Ontario Public Service is an inclusive employer. Accommodation will be provided in accordance with Ontario's Human Rights Code.

www.ontario.ca/careers