Forest Engineering & Project Management

www.coppercanyon.ca

COPPER CANYON CONSULTING LTD is based in Crofton, on southern Vancouver Island. Copper Canyon offers a wide range of services including forest engineering and related project management, timber evaluation, and GIS Mapping. We are a small highly experienced company that functions as an integrated team. We promote professional development and responsibility, with an emphasis on quality of work and safety. Our current scope of projects encompass southern Vancouver Island and the southern Interior.

We are currently seeking 2 Forest Technologists to complement our Vancouver Island team.

The successful applicants will be expected to play a significant role in timber development projects. Applicants must demonstrate the following requirements:

- Minimum of 2 years of direct timber development experience (coastal or interior)
- Experience assisting with preparation of road designs, operational prescriptions, and block packages for harvesting operations

Additional Assets

- Must be well organized, physically fit, and have good communication skills
- Working knowledge of GPS, RoadEng, Office and ArcMap programs is an asset
- Excellent work references
- A valid BC driving license

Qualified applicants must also possess the drive to thrive in a team environment, while working along with clients to achieve optimum results.

This is an opportunity to work with an experienced team, to further your timber development qualifications, and to gain more exposure to the downstream aspects of timber development.

If you believe you possess the necessary skills that meet the requirements of this position please email your cover letter and resume, in confidence, to careers@coppercanyon.ca. Resumes will be accepted until February 24, 2023.

Please note: Applicants must be presently eligible to work in Canada.
