

Quality Control Manager

Terminal Forest Products (TFP) is one of North America's largest suppliers of Western Red Cedar. The company continually invests in the latest technology to ensure unsurpassed production efficiency, resource utilization and product quality. Customers rely on unparalleled Western Red Cedar products that are consistently above grade.

The Quality Control Manager will provide industry leading quality control standards throughout the manufacturing process from raw material to finished products. The incumbent will work at both the primary sawmill operations located at Richmond, British Columbia and the state-of-the-art remanufacturing centre at Everson, Washington. Everson is 16 miles north of Bellingham, Washington and 9 miles south of Abbotsford, British Columbia.

Candidates will have the following qualifications:

- At least 10 years in quality control including grading supervision of Western Red Cedar primary and specialty lumber products.
- Certified by the American Lumber Standards Committee (ALSC) in the United States or by the National Lumber Grades Authority (NLGA) in Canada or respective sub agencies to grade Western Red Cedar lumber including finger-jointed and edge-glued products. Candidates will also be certified by either of these lumber standard organizations or sub agencies to teach classes specifically for the grading of Western Red Cedar lumber products.
- Citizenship or working rights in the United States and/or Canada and eligibility to gain working rights in the other country if not already held.
- Competent knowledge of sawmill and remanufacturing plant equipment and processes.
- Safety first and team betterment attitude in all company dealings.

A detailed position outline is available upon request.

The company provides a competitive remuneration, travel allowance, employer paid group benefit program and pension plan.
